YAYA

How did YAYA start making all-natural bug repellents? The story began in 2014 when Alex and Rebecca (mother and daughter) couldn't ignore the insect problem in their own backyard. The ticks were getting worse each year, and they were determined to find an effective and healthy solution that would protect them and their family, but there wasn't anything available on the market. The mother-daughter team started researching plant-based oils that repel ticks & mosquitos, and soon began developing and testing formulas in their own backyard until they hit a homerun. Meet SQUITO BAN® the extra strength wilderness-ready mosquito repellent, for epic bug-free adventures.
